Introduction

This year, the Symposium of the Belgian Society of Endoscopy will focus on recent evolutions in the field of digestive endoscopy and gastro-intestinal imaging.

Many diagnostic and therapeutic procedures have been developed these last years, and it is not always easy to make a choice between the different new techniques, considering the cost-effectiveness aspects, the clinical indications, and the characteristics of each institution.

Therefore, each topic will be extensively and critically reviewed by an expert and sufficient time will be reserved for an open discussion. The presence of international experts from different countries will also stimulate this debate in an European perspective.

Welcome to all in Grimbergen
